Bees Keep on Giving

On the 27th of October we had our first lip balm extravaganza. We had over 20 students join their efforts to create an all-natural lip balm with our beeswax, our honey, coconut oil and vanilla extract. Students started by grading the wax and then heated up the wax and coconut oil to exactly 66 degrees Celsius. They mixed in thoroughly all the other ingredients and then slowly poured into molds. The next day they capped all lip balm containers and applied the labels. Thank you to all participants and specifically Ms. Rehel whom we could not of done this without her.

P.S. We will be selling this new product along with our sweet honey at Parent-Teacher interviews and the two first weeks of December.
